Endpoint Protector 4 Ready For Lion

CoSoSys has released a new version of their flagship device control and data loss prevention solution, Endpoint Protector. The new version ensures complete control over the latest portable and mobile devices available, according to CoSoSys CEO Roman Foeckl. It's also compatible with Mac OS X 10.7 ("Lion").

Offering enhanced protection, increased effectiveness and the fastest implementation time in its segment, the out-of-the-box hardware and virtual appliance is now available for small, medium and large companies and organizations, he adds. By continuously adapting to new and highly spread security threats affecting both small businesses and large corporations, Endpoint Protector 4 focuses not only on proactively protecting company networks from data loss, leakage and theft by blocking, controlling and monitoring all ports, but also on offering complete detailed reports on the information transferred in and out of the network.

Endpoint Protector 4 is designed to minimize internal threats, reduce data leakage risks and control devices connected at Mac and Windows endpoints, says Foeckl. It allows IT departments to proactively take control of the devices' internal use, while tracking all data transferred in or out of the protected network and enforcing encryption of data in transit on portable devices.
