Press Release

Chillisoft to Distribute CoSoSys Products in New Zealand and Australia

Auckland, New Zealand and Bucharest, Romania February 25, 2009. CoSoSys, a leading European developer of security solutions for USB devices, announced the appointment of Chillisoft as distributor for New Zealand and Australia. Leveraging its strong presence in Asia and Europe, CoSoSys is now uniquely positioned to launch its award winning, cutting edge Endpoint Security and Data Loss Prevention (DLP) solutions to customers in Australasia.

“We are delighted with this relationship and opportunity to expand our IT Security range with products from CoSoSys,” said Geoff Cossey, Director of Chillisoft. “CoSoSys products meet needs ranging from personal Outlook Profile back up and synchronization for Home (SOHO) users through to comprehensive Endpoint Data Security leakage via USB portable devices for business customers.”

“We’re constantly looking for solutions for our reseller channel that complement our other security products. We’ve been delighted with the friendliness and support provided by the CoSoSys team in understanding our market requirements and making the partnership so enjoyable to work with.”

CoSoSys was founded in early 2004 with a strong business focus on software development, marketing and support of applications for portable storage devices such as USB Flash Drives and flash based MP3 Players. In a second business unit CoSoSys is developing endpoint and data leakage security solutions that enable a secure working environment for portable storage devices.

The company’s goal is to provide the most innovative and useful applications for portable storage devices and endpoint security solutions. The strong demand for such applications is driven by the risks associated with the rapidly growth of mobile storage devices such as USB Flash Memory.

“In the coming weeks we will be educating our reseller channel and customers about the opportunities provided by the CoSoSys Endpoint Security and Carry it Easy products.”
